

Party Wall Director

ESSENTIAL INFORMATION

- Attractive Remuneration Package (with potential for share options)
- Location: City based location
- Employment Type: Permanent

THE ROLE

We are currently seeking a self-driven, aspiring leader who has excellent client facing skills to join us at either a Director. To fulfil the requirements of this role you will need to be an expert in Party Wall matters and ideally have five years plus experience in this specialist field with the passion and drive to develop the business further.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Senior technical lead on Party Walls and Neighbourly Matters.
- Cultivate and develop new and existing client relationships.
- Actively promote the Company brand and generate new business.
- Deliver on client expectations through high quality delivery and commercial management.
- Effective financial management of own assignments delivering to required utilisation and profitability targets.
- Inspire, lead and develop own team of surveyors.
- Contribute towards delivering thought leadership to continue to inform and evolve our service offering.
- Creates and exploit opportunities to develop external profile.

REQUIREMENTS

Knowledge and Experience

- Ideally 5+ years in Party Wall senior surveying role.
- Chartered Surveyor (desirable but not essential).

Skills & Qualities

- Ability to plan, prioritise often conflicting priorities
- Excellent verbal and written skills, capable of communicating complex technical information in an effective and impactful manner
- Routinely undertaking environmental scanning to assess trends and their impact in the commercial world
- Self-driven in improving one's knowledge
- Commercial acumen
- Effective project management

OUR PEOPLE

Anstey Horne realises its success depends on its people and we work hard to recruit and retain the right people.

We pride ourselves on our social, inclusive, open and supportive culture. We value fresh thinking and new ideas and provide an environment for each of our staff members to make a tangible difference to our business. Our people are integral in building and retaining relationships with our clients and supporting the delivery of our assignments. In return for their hard work and dedication, we reward them with an exciting and dynamic working environment where they can truly be at the forefront of driving forward our business.

THE COMPANY

Anstey Horne is a leading specialist in Rights of Light, Party Wall and Building Surveying with a pedigree steeped in many years of experience. Working with high profile residential and commercial developers, our clients can always be assured of a tailored high quality service which delivers to their requirements.

Our ambition is to build upon our position as a leading specialist surveying firm at the heart of major commercial and residential developments in Central London, Greater London and other major cities in the UK.

CONTACT

If you are interested in applying for the role please send your CV along with a covering letter to info@ansteyhorne.co.uk

