

Rights of Light Surveyor

ESSENTIAL INFORMATION

- Attractive Remuneration Package
- Location: City based location
- Employment Type: Permanent

THE ROLE

We are currently seeking a motivated, self-driven and experienced Rights of Light and Daylight and Sunlight Surveyor to work on some of the most exciting and high profile developments in London and across the UK. In return we will provide training to further develop your skills and expertise as a member of our team of leading experts in the field. The successful applicant will be involved in all aspects of rights of light and daylight and sunlight cases including research, analysis, reporting, negotiations, client contact and financial management.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Meet with clients and attend site to establish impact of potential build
- Liaising with Technical CAD team reviewing rights of light / daylight & sunlight calculations
- Production of ES Chapters and Technical reports
- Keeping clients informed of progress
- Involvement with negotiations and advising clients on insurance and legal matters
- Undertaking due diligence

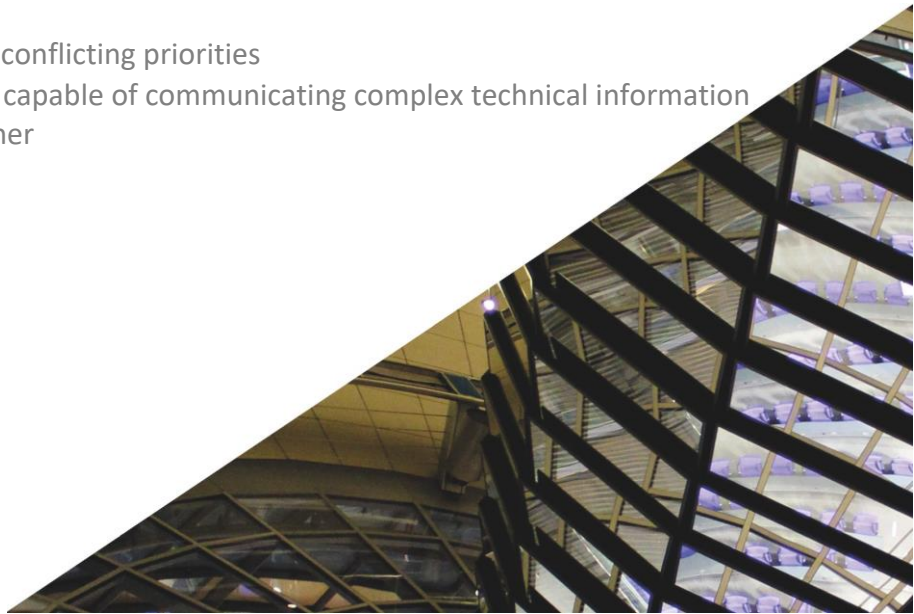

REQUIREMENTS

Knowledge and Experience

- Experience in Rights of Light/Daylight and Sunlight senior surveying role
- Relevant degree or equivalent

Skills & Qualities

- Ability to plan and prioritise often conflicting priorities
- Excellent verbal and written skills, capable of communicating complex technical information in an effective and impactful manner

AnsteyHorne

- Self-driven in improving one's knowledge
- Effective project management
- Strong influencing and engagement skills
- The ability to find solutions to complex challenges
- A hands on approach with the willingness to work alongside team members to deliver
- A personable and engaging approach to engender trust and respect

OUR PEOPLE

Anstey Horne realises its success depends on its people and we work hard to recruit and retain the right people.

We pride ourselves on our social, inclusive, open and supportive culture. We value fresh thinking and new ideas and provide an environment for each of our staff members to make a tangible difference to our business. Our people are integral in building and retaining relationships with our clients and supporting the delivery of our assignments. In return for their hard work and dedication, we reward them with an exciting and dynamic working environment where they can truly be at the forefront of driving forward our business.

THE COMPANY

Anstey Horne is a leading specialist in Rights of Light, Party Wall and Building Surveying with a pedigree steeped in many years of experience. Working with high profile residential and commercial developers, our clients can always be assured of a tailored high quality service which delivers to their requirements.

With offices in London and Birmingham our ambition is to build upon our position as a leading specialist surveying firm at the heart of major commercial and residential developments in Central London, Greater London and other major cities in the UK.

CONTACT

If you are interested in applying for the role please send your CV along with a covering letter to info@ansteyhorne.co.uk

